EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Today, India's leaders must also be open to the possibility that the constraint on India's future growth will be its human capital — the education, skills, and health of its young population.

These "softer" priorities do not get the budgetary treatment that "hard" infrastructure does. Money continues to be spent on efforts such as the digitalisation of public education, of course. But, compared to the plans for India's infrastructure rollout, there is simply less effort being put into equipping India's growing workforce with the basics that it needs.

Focusing on basic literacy and numeracy is the first step. Large-scale survey data has found that three-fourths of students in the seventh grade can't do simple subtraction, and one-third can't read at a second-grade level. Even so, less has been put aside in this budget for the National Education Mission than was in the last one.

Longest-line of sub sandwiches

Brazil: A Brazilian food company earned a Guinness World Record by assembling a line of 1,180 submarine sandwiches.

The record-keeping organization announced food company Perdigão prepared the subs, also known as torpedo sandwiches, into a line to celebrate the 469th anniversary of the city of Sao Paulo. The sandwiches were prepared by a team of 40 over the course of about five hours and assembled into a line at the Parque Ibirapuera urban park. A Guinness adjudicator was on hand to verify each sandwich measured at least 30 centimetres (11.8 inches) long. The resulting lineup of lunchtime classics earned the record for longest line of torpedo (submarine) sandwiches. The sandwiches used in the event were served to members of the public after the record was confirmed.

Unique Advt. by Gujarat School

Gujarat: Employers have become creative with their job advertisements. And now, a school from Gujarat has come up with a unique ad in order to hire Maths teachers. The intriguing advertisement shows how the organisation turned it into the first layer of interviews for the applicants. They did so by hiding their phone number within an equation.

Interesting add is so amazing that business tycoon Harsh Goenka also shared the brief poster with four lines on his Twitter account. "Saw this ad," he wrote in the caption with a smiley emoji. The advertisement stands out because it doesn't include any number to call. In the poster, an equation has been used in place of a contact number, so anyone wishing to apply must first solve the math problem. The post on social media has accumulated more than 1.8 million views and over 21,000 likes. Internet users were impressed with the unique technique of hiring Maths teachers. Several users also solved the equation.

"Answer is '9428163811'. That's the 10-digit mobile number to call.

Delayed road works in Vijayanagar inconvenience public

Sir,

This is to bring to light the pathetic state of High Tension road in Vijayanagar (from Trinetra Circle to K.D. Circle and from Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering to K.D. Circle).

Despite repeated complaints, the repair works have been consistently delayed, causing immense hardship to the public, especially motorists.

The road in question is in a terrible condition, with potholes and uneven surfaces causing accidents and damage to vehicles. The prolonged delay in repair works have only exacerbated the problem, making it difficult for residents and commuters to safely use the road.

The situation is causing a great deal of frustration and inconvenience to the public, who are forced to use alternative routes that are often longer and more time-consuming. It is also having a negative impact on commercial activities in the area, as customers are unable to reach their destinations easily.

I urge the authorities to take immediate action to address this issue and ensure that the repair works are carried out as soon as possible. The safety and convenience of the public should be of utmost importance.

Hope the ongoing snail-pace works are expedited and provide respite to the harrowed citizens.

'Bharat Jodo Yatra made an attempt to unite India'

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi embarked on a 3,750-km 'Bharat Jodo Yatra' on Sept. 7, 2022, from Kanyakumari to Kashmir and over the course of 150 days, he was accompanied by 117 core walkers, who were there with him from the start to finish. One among them was Mysurean Dr. Shushrutha Hedna Vishnumurthy, Managing Director of Neurozone, a Neurology Hospital in Nazarbad. Dr. Shushrutha returned to Mysuru on Feb. 1 after the Yatra ended on Jan. 30, 2023, in Srinagar. Star of Mysore caught up with Dr. Shushrutha, who answered a few questions about his experience. Excerpts:

WALK THE TALK: Dr. Shushrutha Hedna Vishnumurthy of Mysuru marching with Rahul Gandhi.

By S. Kenneth Shishir

Star of Mysore (SOM): Did the Bharat Jodo Yatra really shake the ground as anticipated?

Dr. Shushrutha: Yes, no doubt about it. Because when we started, we did not expect such support. In Kanyakumari, over 20,000 people joined us and this was a huge momentum. When we entered Kerala, the response was greater because Congress has a strong cadre base there. People were interested and enthusiastic and they walked with us.

In Karnataka, the response was humongous as people are fed up with the current dispensation. The overwhelming response went on and on until Jammu and Kashmir. People were coming to see this gentleman (Rahul Gandhi) who is walking all the way from Kanyakumari to Kashmir.

Definitely, it is an impactful Yatra because even film personalities, eminent scientists, well-known personalities and even NRIs participated and support came from all quarters.

SOM: For Rahul, Yatra was a lifetime experience. Was it the same for you?

Dr. Shushrutha: I joined the Yatra as a doctor, as a responsible citizen and not as a member of any political outfit. I felt that I want to do something to express my protest against the current situation in India, be it a communal divide where people are using some agenda to kill each other, unemployment, worsening economic situation, women empowerment issues and journalists being put in jail.

SOM: What benefits have you garnered?

Dr. Shushrutha: Firstly, my health improved significantly. Secondly, my spiritual depth increased because of the way I was able to reflect on myself and see what I could do better in my life or how I could help society in my own humble way.

Thirdly, it was more like a religious Yatra because we visited many religious places belonging to different faiths. Fourthly, I discovered that there is so much of a health disparity between urban and rural areas. This was more like a research thing to see what the disparities are. And since I was doing tele-health advisory for rural zone and also health camps for rural people in and around Mysuru, this was a big experience across the country.

Last but not the least, I also wanted to understand India. I had read and achieved academically but I had not seen the country. So, this was a great experience to look at India in my own way. And I selfishly involved myself in that with my own agenda.

SOM: The entire focus was on Rahul, his beard, his expensive T-shirt and the luxurious caravan he took to unwind while others slept in normal containers. Where do other walkers count?

Dr. Shushrutha: This is a misconception. He was sleeping exactly in the same container in which we were sleeping. Some vested interests spread that Rahul Gandhi had an expensive container. Because of his security, his was a single container. We shared a container of 12 people. Even the food was the same.

SOM: Has Congress succeeded in making a point as the Yatra intended to educate people on various failures of the Central Government?

Dr. Shushrutha: Yes definitely. To be honest with you, a Congressperson should answer this question because as I said before, I am not affiliated with Congress or any political party. But what I feel is people are upset. Why did lakhs and lakhs join the Yatra? That itself shows that they are not happy with the country's present state. This has definitely helped the Congress party rejuvenate a demoralised cadre and give new faith to people.

SOM: Will Bharat Jodo Yatra fetch rich electoral dividends to Congress?

Dr. Shushrutha: I am not a political person to answer this. But from the response of the crowd and my little political knowledge, I feel it will have a huge benefit. Only time can tell.

SOM: Has Rahul got a makeover from his earlier image after walking all these days? Or do you think he has to do more to gain people's trust and confidence?

Dr. Shushrutha: With my interaction with Rahul Gandhi, I feel that he is generally interested in the social impact, economic, rural health and he is very much interested to improve each and every aspect. So definitely whatever has been painted on him is false. No leader in the last few decades had the guts to face the people like him. He conducted many media interactions, asking questions, answering questions and involving people. He is very good at it. He can easily connect with people, media and it is the media who should answer this question.

SOM: What was your learning in the Yatra? And was India really divided for Rahul Gandhi to unite it?

Dr. Shushrutha: I definitely felt that after coming back from the US, I was shocked to see how India has changed. I used to come and go for 10 to 15 days. But by staying here, I felt that India was divided. Every day we hear killing, rape, women safety issues, economy drained and farmers having problems. Even people are divided by religion and infrastructure problems and corruption. This Yatra made an attempt to unite India.

SOM: As a doctor, how did you manage to treat your patients in Mysuru and simultaneously be a part of the Yatra?

Dr. Shushrutha: As a telemedicine doctor, I am involved in the THAR project (Telehealth Advisory for Rural Zone), providing free telehealth and health camp for rural populations in and around Mysuru and Kodagu. I also used to cover many hospitals in America using telemedicine and I use the same technology here. I used to conduct telemedicine using WhatsApp and connect with patients who want to see me personally. I used to do telemedicine consults using my laptop and phone. Also in the camp, I used to treat whoever reported ill.

SOM: What were your memorable moments of the Yatra?

Dr. Shushrutha: When we were walking, we had a person in his 80s who collapsed and died in front of our own eyes. An MP from Punjab had a heart attack and passed away. And there was a person who was hit by an unidentified vehicle and we had to take him to the hospital.

On happier side, I saw people, including women and children, on the last stretch in J&K rushing to be a part of the Yatra, mindless of the gun-toting security men. This is etched in my memory. Overall, the enthusiasm of the people and the way they look at Rahul Gandhi with some hope gives us hope.

SOM: You were moving from the hottest places to the coldest ones. How could you cope with the temperature shift?

Dr. Shushrutha: Until we reached Haryana, we did not have any issues with temperature. It was all hot in Kerala and Karnataka, but as we moved to Telangana and Maharashtra, it was a pretty decent temperature. As we reached Haryana, temperature dropped. After passing the eighth and ninth phases, we started to feel cold. We were ready to cope with a hot climate, but not ready for the cold.

In the beginning, it was tiring and a lot of discomfort. However, we adapted quickly and the last 10 days in Jammu and Kashmir, we dealt with extreme cold and we were afraid thinking what would happen. But somehow with our team spirit and crowd support, we were able to pull it off, even walking through snow at minus 3 degrees Celsius.

SOM: What is the key takeaway from this Yatra for you and the rest of India?

Dr. Shushrutha: The take-home message is very clear to me. Firstly, India is divided and Bharat Jodo Yatra was extremely relevant. For India, I would say, that all have to come together. This is just a small voice we have started and there is a long way to go. I don't think we would be able to do this on our own.

Every organisation, all political parties, doesn't matter whether ruling or opposition, everybody should come together to solve India's problems. Every party has to do such Yatra to understand the genuine problems that India is facing. They should leave selfish motives behind and bring India together.

Rush to pay traffic fine

After the 50 percent rebate was announced, from 3.2.2023 till 11.2.2023 (11 am), 3,27,393 cases came to a close with the payment of fine that amounted to Rs. 6,76,99,200. The total pending amount now stands at Rs. 121,05,94,500.

Utilising this opportunity, offenders can pay fine amount and obtain challan, at their respective Traffic Police Stations, Traffic Management Centre at Police Commissioner's Office, Karnataka One Centre or App or on the hand-held device of the Police Officers and obtain a receipt.

As the rebate ends today midnight, there was extra rush at all the Traffic Police Stations and Traffic ACP's Office in the city and they witnessed long queues. Special counters have been opened where the pending fines are calculated along with rebate and entered in the special hand-held devices. After details are entered, cash is collected from the violator and receipts issued.

City Police sources told Star of Mysore that the Transport Department has supplied only 27 such hand-held devices and they are not able to meet the rush. "Once the penalty details are entered and the fine amount is received, the details are transmitted to the State headquarters for electronic collation. We need to deposit the money at the end of the day. This is convenient but we have only 27 machines to handle a huge crowd and a dedicated set of Policemen are working overtime to handle the crowd," said a Policeman.

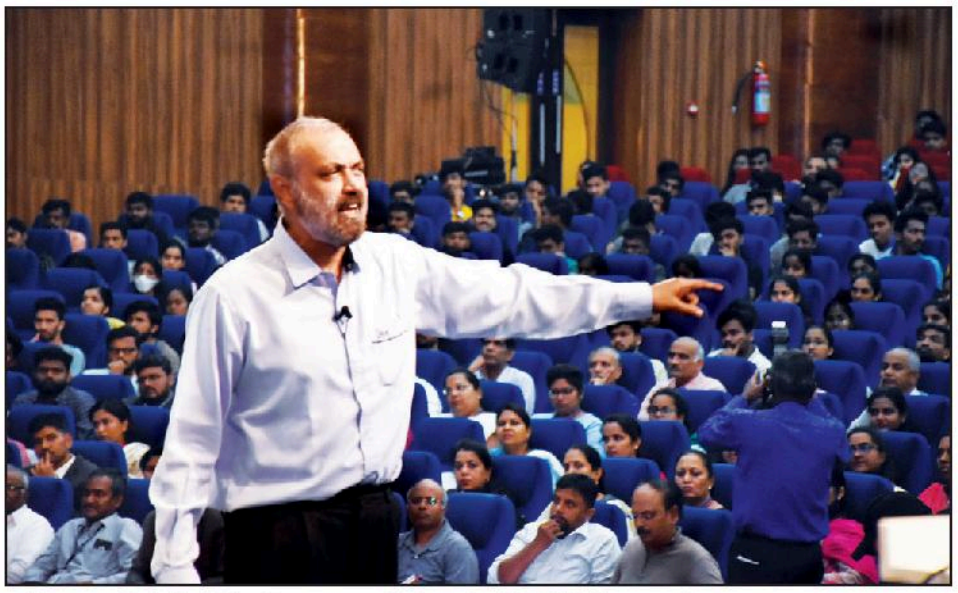
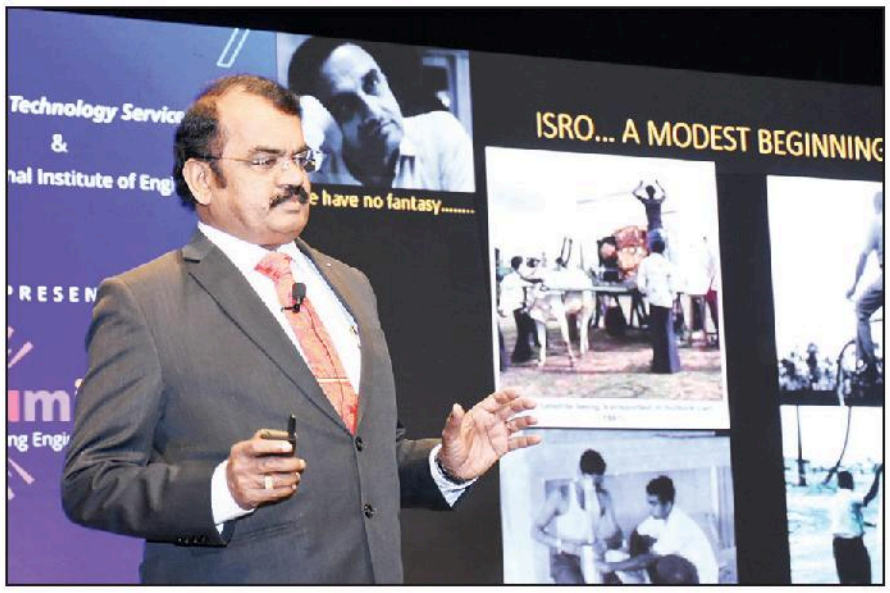
'We should build high speed train on our own'

- Sudhanshu Mani, the man behind 'Vande Bharat Express,' stresses on making high speed train without waiting for Japanese technology
- 'Moon Man of India' Dr. Mylswamy Annadurai appeals young engineers to focus on Space Science too rather than Information Technology





Mysuru, Feb.11 (BS)- Former General Manager of Integral Coach Factory (ICF), Chennai, Sudhanshu Mani, the force behind indigenously built maiden Vande Bharat Express train in the country has said, "After having achieved the feat of making Vande Bharat, a semi-high speed train, we should go for building a high speed train also on our own, without relying on Japanese technology."

Mani delivered a talk at a flagship event titled 'Illuminate: Celebrating Engineering Excellence' organised by L&T Technology Services (LTTS) in association with National Institute of Engineering (NIE), Mysuru, at the Convocation Hall of Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) this morning.

"It is not difficult or impossible, but can be achieved by spending on infrastructure," said Mani, thrusting on making the high speed train possible on our own.

Mani, who is credited for the success of Vande Bharat that was on track in a record time of 18 months (that was precisely why the train was earlier named 'T18') explained how he was driven by the famous lines of former President of India and Space Scientist Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam — Dream is not the thing you see in sleep, Dream is that, doesn't let you sleep.

With the help of slides and alliterations, Mani with his deep baritone voice, recalled the journey he embarked on, with the challenge of executing the project of Atmanirbhar (self-reliance), within 21 months into his retirement.

From crossing bureaucratic hurdles to building a team on the basis of empathy and passion, dealing with the lethargic workforce with an iron hand as 165 people were sacked (at Integral Coach Factory) during the course of building the coaches, while women numbering about 29, all from Chennai were involved in fabricating the coaches, it was a combination of many forces that finally made Vande Bharat a reality, explained Mani.

"It's a train made by Indians for India," said Mani adding it was "a sheer joy to relive the story."

Amidst this, Mani also had an appeal for the gathering especially youngsters, "Love what you do and love your organisation."

Moon Man of India

Space Scientist Dr. Mylswamy Annadurai, known as the 'Moon Man of India' for the successful Chandrayaan-1 project and several others later, during his 36 years long career at Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), succinctly said, "We have to start working from schools to kindle the interest towards space science among the students."

Dr. Annadurai, who is the Vice-President of Tamil Nadu State Council for Science and Technology (TNSCST), with the help of a video showed how the project of encouraging budding minds has been taken up at school level in his home State.

Dr. Annadurai (whose real life role is said to have inspired Bollywood actor Akshay Kumar in reprising the role on screen in 'Mission Mangal' which hit the screens in August 2019), appealed to the youngsters present among the gathering to take interest in Space Science too, as Information Technology (IT) sector is not the only stop for engineers.

Following the talks, Delivery Head of LTTS Shylendra Srivastav moderated the interaction programme.

Two-day Roots and Tuber Mela begins in city

Mysuru, Feb. 11 (MTY&DM)- The two-day annual Roots and Tuber Mela organised by the city's Sahaja Samrudha, in association with Using Diversity, began at Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry on Vinoba Road here this morning.

Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra inaugurated the Mela by slicing a Tuber .

Speaking on the occasion, Dr. Rajendra said, people looked at a variety of tablets for vitamins when the COVID pandemic broke out three years ago. But Tubers and Roots grown naturally are found to be rich in nutrients and vitamins, he said.

Noting that Roots and Tuber crops that include Potatoes, Taro, Cassava, Sweet Potatoes, Yams etc., are cultivated staple energy sources and are only second to cereals, the DC said they favourably adapt to diverse soil and environmental conditions and a variety of farming systems.

Continuing, Dr. Rajendra said that Tubers play a significant role in food security and nutrition and as such, the Mela is a very valuable one for the people.

Maintaining that he was surprised to learn that there are over 200 varieties of Tubers that are on display at the Mela, he said that the District Administration will render all necessary help and support for the cause of Roots and Tuber growers.

Stating that the District Administration has planned setting up of Roots and Tuber Growers Association with participation of Sahaja Samrudha and farmer groups, the DC said that the membership fee for farmers would be Rs.1,000, which the District Administration has planned to borne it out of CSR funds.

Asserting that the District Administration will make all efforts to find appropriate markets for Roots, Tubers and all other products made out of them, he said that the help of NABARD too will be sought to explore markets and good prices and also to encourage organic farming.

Dr. Rajendra released a 2023 calendar brought out by Sahaja Samrudha that carries pictures of varieties of Roots and Tubers on the occasion. Also, a Purple Cake made exclusively out of Roots and Tubers was cut, marking the inauguration.

Sahaja Samrudha Director G. Krishna Prasad, Seema Prasad, N.M. Shaji of Kerala, who has brought 200 tubers for display, Seed Conservator Parvati, Writer and Food Expert Ratna Rajaiah and others were present.

The Mela has over 25 stalls selling different varieties of Tubers and Roots, rare Colombian Tuber Yacon Beans, Purple Yam brought by Jenukuruba women groups of Nagarahole, Multi-colour Sweet Potatoes etc., a variety of dishes made out of Roots and Tubers, saplings and seeds, Ice-creams etc.

The event also features a 'Roots and Tubers Cooking Contest' at 12 noon tomorrow (Feb. 12) and the winners will be given prizes.

The two-day Mela, which concludes tomorrow, will be open from 10.30 am to 8 pm on both the days.

Swamy Maralapura, South Central Zonal Organising Secretary of ABVP, inaugurating District Conference at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall in city this morning.

Mysuru, Feb. 11 (PM&TRR)- "Students should try to take the nativity of the country to greater heights," said Swamy Maralapura, South Central Zonal Organising Secretary of Akhila Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishat (ABVP).

He was speaking after inaugurating one-day District Conference of ABVP at Maharaja's College Centenary Hall today.

ABVP has been demanding changes in Education Policy for a while and now happy to see that its demands are being fulfilled. The ABVP was started in 1949 and since then, it is guiding the student community and is working to protect the interests of students of all sections of the society. ABVP is now the country's biggest students' organisation with a membership of 45 lakh," said Swamy Maralapura.

Stating that ABVP students participated in the JP Movement launched by Jayaprakash Narayan during the Emergency, he said that the ABVP has successfully imparted patriotism in the student community.

Postponement of MCC Standing Committee Polls

Regional Commissioner asks MCC Chief to submit report

Mysuru, Feb. 11 (MK&DM)- Following a complaint from Congress Corporators, Regional Commissioner Dr. G.C. Prakash has asked MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy to submit a report on the circumstances that led to the postponement of pending elections to Heads of MCC Standing Committees and to take necessary action as per rules.

A Congress delegation, led by City Congress President R. Murthy, had recently petitioned the Regional Commissioner, accusing the Mayor of deliberately postponing the long overdue elections to Heads of MCC Standing Committees, which was an insult to the people.

The postponement will also prove to be a hurdle in getting approval for 2023-24 budgetary sanctions, allocations and execution of plans and programmes in the absence of Panel Heads, the petition argued.

Subsequent to the petition, the Regional Commissioner has directed the MCC Commissioner to look into the matter and submit a report.

Miscreant posing as Policeman robs woman of chain

Mysuru, Feb. 11- Finding a new way for looting, a miscreant, posing as a Policeman, has robbed a woman of her 10 gm gold chain in city.

H.K. Shashikala, 33, a native of Chennayyanakote in Virajpet taluk of Kodagu, who worked as a cook at a Paying Guest (PG) accommodation located in front of Rotary School in Saraswathipuram, used to regularly meet one Shivalinga alias Dinesh of her village, who was known to her for the past 10 years.

Shivalinga, who came to the PG in his friends Omni van on Feb. 8, took Shashikala in the van. Shivalinga parked the Omni at a spot close to Lakshmi Steels on Ring Road and the two began to chat on their family matters sitting in the van with its door open at about 3 pm in the afternoon, when the miscreant who came in a Pulsar Motorcycle, approached them posing himself as a policeman and sat inside the van. Soon, the 'Policeman' checked the wallets of Shashikala and Shivalinga and found Rs. 500 in each of them. Not 'satisfied' with himself, the 'Policeman' asked the two to come to the Police Station for an enquiry, when he also asked Shashikala to part with her 10 gm gold chain, saying it was a 'precautionary measure' to ensure that they (Shashikala and Shivalinga) do not escape on way to the Police Station. After getting Shashikala's gold chain, the 'Policeman' asked the two to follow his motorcycle to the Police Station. As told, Shashikala and Shivalinga followed him in their Omni van for some distance and as they reached Rajarajeshwarinagar traffic signal on the Ring Road, the 'Policeman' suddenly sped away turning left and went out of sight within moments. After coming to know that the 'Policeman' was indeed a miscreant, Shashikala lodged a complaint with the jurisdictional Saraswathipuram Police, who have registered a case.

DC directs Health Department to distribute Mother Health Cards

Mysuru, Feb. 11 (PM&DM)- Observing that Mother Health Cards have a vital role in ensuring the health of mother and child, Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra said that the Health Department should take measures to distribute Health Cards for pregnant women who turn up for health checks at private hospitals and other private practitioners.

He was speaking after inaugurating a one-day workshop for Gynaecologists and Radiologists on 'Pradhan Mantri Surakshit Matritva Abhiyan' (PMSMA), jointly organised by the District Administration, Zilla Panchayat (ZP) and Health & Family Welfare Department, at a private Hotel on JLB Road here recently.

Stressing on the need for Gynaecologists and others to take utmost care during child birth, Dr. Rajendra said that doctors must ensure safe delivery of child and health of the mother.

Noting that screening of pregnant women at private hospitals and clinics is not getting registered in the Health Department on a full-scale, the DC said that the Health & Family Welfare Department should take measures to ensure registration of pregnant women and lactating mothers for Mother Cards (Thayi Cards). Such Health Cards must be distributed to pregnant women through ASHA workers, Anganwadi workers and Anganwadi Helpers, he said adding that timely treatment is key to ensure safe child birth. Continuing, the DC said that health officials should retain high risk pregnancy and child birth cases at Cheluvamba Hospital and send normal child birth cases to the District Hospital, as this would relieve the pressure on Cheluvamba Hospital to a considerable extent.

Pointing out that while Cheluvaba Hospital is registering 600 child births on an average every month, the District Hospital is not registering even 60 cases, he stressed on the need to reduce the pressure on Cheluvamba Hospital.

Asking the private hospitals and clinics to mandatorily provide information on check-ups of all pregnant women visiting them for consultation, he said that the Health Department must ensure that all pregnant women and lactating mothers get Mother Health Cards. The DC also called upon all concerned to ensure that Mysuru becomes the safest child birth district.

DHO Dr. K.H. Prasad said that PMSMA has been launched as registration and check-up of pregnant women is not going on as expected.

Pointing out that free check-ups will be done on the 9th of every month, he said that pregnant women must undergo check-ups at least three times during their pregnancy for safe child birth.

Private practitioners, who have tied up with the Health Department and providing free health check-ups, were honoured on the occasion. RCHO Dr. M.S. Jayanth, District Vector-Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara, Cheluvamba Hospital Head Dr. R. Sudha and others were present.

MCCI flays CESC proposal for upper revision of power tariff

Mysuru, Feb. 11- The Mysore Chamber of Commerce and Industry (MCCI) and KIADB Industrial Areas Manufacturers Association (KIAMA), have flayed the CESC's move for steep hike in Industrial power tariff.

In a joint press statement, MCCI President K.B. Lingaraju and KIADB Vice-President K. Ravindra Prabhu said that CESC has submitted a proposal to Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) seeking upward revision of power tariff, according to which a steep hike of Rs. 1.072 Per Unit has been sought. Also, CESC has sought upward revision of fixed charges ranging from Rs. 50 to Rs. 180 per HP for all LT (Low Tension) categories and a raise of Rs. 355/KVA to Rs. 395/KVA for all HT (High Tension) categories, they said.

Pointing out that strongly opposing the move, the MCCI and KIAMA have filed petitions opposing any raise in power tariff, citing recession and possible closure of industries, they argued that many small-scale, cottage and home industries will be forced to shut down and the hike may also make starting of new micro and small-scale industries inviable.

Stating that they have highlighted the inefficiency of CESC, which alone must be blamed for the loss, they called upon all Industrial and Consumer Associations to participate in full strength in the Regulatory Commission's public hearing and oppose the CESC's proposed power tariff hike, which in all likelihood force closure of industries, resulting in huge job losses. Session on digital autopsy held for trainee Dy.SPs

Virtual autopsies accurate when compared to conventional autopsies: JSS Medical College Professor Dr. Chandrakanth

Dr. Chandrakanth

Mysuru, Feb. 11 (BCT)- A session on 'evolving into an era of post-mortem examination through visualisation' was organised for trainee Dy.SPs at the Karnataka Police Academy (KPA) in city recently where Dr. H.V. Chandrakanth, Professor and Head of the Department of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, JSS Medical College, delivered a talk on digital autopsy.

Dr. H.V. Chandrakanth (standing), Professor and Head of the Department of Forensic Medicine and Toxicology, JSS Medical College, seen with trainee Dy.SPs at the Karnataka Police Academy (KPA) in city recently during a session on digital autopsy.

In his presentation, Dr. Chandrakanth said that virtual autopsy which is done with the help of high-tech digital X-rays and CT scans is less time-consuming when compared to the traditional post-mortem and is non-invasive, allowing the body to be released for cremation or burial soon while the authentic data can be documented and transmitted.

Virtual autopsies is being performed at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi, for the last two years and the advanced procedure has come as a boon to forensic experts and is a relief to the family of the deceased. When any family is in grief or mourning, the invasive process is hardly recommended, he said.

The procedure involves zero to minimal cuts in the body of the deceased person, the Professor told the Policemen. AIIMS Delhi is the only institute in Southeast Asia which has been doing virtual autopsies for the last two years, he added.

A digital autopsy has many advantages when compared to conventional autopsies. "The radiological examination can detect fractures and blood clots invisible to the naked eye. With the help of virtual autopsy, even smaller fractures like hairline or chip fractures in bones along with bleeding which are signs of antemortem injuries can be detected and they can be documented," Dr. Chandrakanth told the Cops.

A virtual autopsy can provide additional diagnostic information. The technology is in use for some time in forensics, CT and MRI are now being used as an alternative means of performing cause-of-death determination, he explained.

"Digital autopsy is a humane solution and enhances dignity in death. While conventional autopsies are invasive, cause permanent damage and are against religious beliefs, the digital autopsy is transforming a 500-year-old practice providing new tools to pathologists to improve the examination process. While conventional autopsy is a lengthy procedure that can last more than three hours with 65 percent accuracy, the virtual autopsy takes only about 30 minutes with 90 percent accuracy," Dr. Chandrakanth explained.

While the shortage of manpower due to low interest among graduates to enter the autopsy field is a problem in conventional autopsies, the digital autopsies can be performed as long as the CT and MRI scanners are available.

"There is ease of use, speed of use and acceptability and the service can be exported across the world, establishing it as a centre of excellence in forensic medicine-related services," he said.

Also, local and international graduate training can be provided in high technology and they can be absorbed into structured apprenticeship programmes that will reskill and upskill graduates and create an experienced workforce.

Woman accused of cheating man lakhs of rupees on promise of marriage

Mysuru, Feb. 11- In a reported incident, a woman has cheated a man whom she got introduced through Facebook, to the tune of lakhs of rupees on the promise of marriage.

Twenty six-year-old Amar Singh of Rajasthan is the one who has lost Rs. 10.29 lakh in cash and 16 gm gold jewellery.

Amar Singh, along with his cousin Ashok, was engaged in utensils business at Nanjangud for the past three-and-a-half years. Two years ago, Amar Singh got introduced to one Vijayaranjini through Facebook, when the two exchanged their mobile phone numbers and began to converse, during which Vijayaranjini told Amar Singh that she was a divorcee and stayed at her father's house. Vijayaranjini told Amar Singh that she desired to marry him, following which the two met at a park in Bogadi, when Vijayaranjini sought money from him saying that her father was ill.

Between 2021 and Jan. 16, 2023, Vijayaranjini received a total of Rs. 10,29,403 on different days from Amar Singh, even as she continued to keep her promise of marrying him. Vijayaranjini also succeeded in getting a 12.45 gm gold bracelet and 3.68 gm ear drops from him.

Later, Vijayaranjini, who called Amar Singh on Jan. 30, 2023, asked him to come to Mysuru for getting married at a temple. As told, Amar Singh came to Mysuru on Jan. 30 and waited for hours near temple. But as Vijayaranjini did not turn up, he called Vijayaranjini when she told him that she was unwell and they could get married on another date.

Getting suspicious, Amar Singh called Vijayaranjini's father and told him that his daughter had received lakhs of rupees from him on the promise of marriage, when he (Vijayaranjini's father) told him that he had nothing to do with his daughter. Subsequently, Amar Singh called Vijayaranjini again, when she threatened him of dire consequences if he persisted on marrying her and also blocked her Facebook chat with him.

Feeling cheated, Amar Singh lodged a complaint at CEN Police Station at Mysuru. The Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.
